

Call to Order/Introduction: Olivia Goldman, Ashley Rayback, PTA Co-Presidents

Pledge: By Michelle Orme

Leadership thought: Malisa Whiting, Leadership VP (out sick)

Teacher Update: Maren Clayton, Teacher VP - teacher feedback from Spectacular: Everyone seemed to like it, the color powder did not cause a mess, more food trucks, liked the video introducing the Spectacular, but maybe give teachers options of having visits as well.

-Christmas shop: Open first week of December. There will be a Preview Day and then (Wed, Thurs, Fri) , classes will go in 30 minute blocks, shopping time may be too short? What if the classes were split up so not so many at once?

Principal Update: Principal Jill Franklin, Administrative VP : Regarding After School Program bus- the shortest route that then gets the bus back to the bus yard is used.

Playground: Swings were removed because they don't have clearance any longer, replaced by a spider web climbing structure. Working on establishing rules with the children about how many can be on it at once.

Substitutes: District is in desperate need of more subs, if you are interested contact Kelly Services. You can choose what schools and classes you sub in.

Celebrations: Spring Creek School Improvement Plan was recognized - the needs assessment and school plan were very clear.

ELL population: Currently at 50% and yet our testing scores keep improving

-Grateful to PTA for their support.

Community Outreach Report: Kimmy Martinez: AM Yoga before School on Fridays (Story Yoga) with Brittany Jergens. 3 spots still available for afterschool Yoga. No sports club to be held next week.

Special Guests: Mayor Kaufusi: Expressed love to Principal Jill Franklin and the school. PTA is where the heart of the community is. Pushed Provo Public Safeties bond - $42 million for the police and fire, the rest to the city facility building on center street. Asked for support from PTA members.

Chief Miguel: Firefighters and police willing to do ANYTHING for the people of Provo - will Provo take care of them and their facility needs? Come tour the police and fire station 9-11 every Sat. until elections to see some of the desperate needs. Go to voteprovo.com for more info.
